MISSION STATEMENT

Recognizing that each person has an inherent worth, it is the mission of the Old Bridge Public Schools to empower each student to learn to achieve success and to become a confident, productive member of a pluralistic, global society prepared to face the challenges of the 21st Century.

BELIEFS

We believe that:

- Learning is a lifelong process.
- All children can learn.
- Education is a shared responsibility among schools, the child, the family and the community.
- All students are entitled to a safe, supportive learning environment.
- Self-esteem is necessary for successful learning.
- The development of curriculum is an on-going and cyclical process.
- The district should provide a dynamic curriculum that recognizes the various needs and learning styles of our students.
- An appreciation of the arts and humanities enhances the education of the whole child.
- All students should be taught to appreciate and respect the cultural differences in our society.
- All students are worthy of educational opportunity, respect, tolerance and fairness.
- Schools should prepare students to function successfully in society.
- All children should be encouraged to rise to their highest level of achievement.

AFFIRMATIVE ACTION STATEMENT

The Old Bridge Township Public Schools provides equal educational opportunities for all students, including equal access to all school facilities, programs, equipment, staff services, financial resources, courses, or activities, and other benefits regardless of race, color, creed, religion, sex, ancestry, national origin, social, economic or academic status or physical handicap.

PHILOSOPHY

The Old Bridge World Languages department seeks to promote linguistic and cultural literacy while cultivating a lifelong appreciation and enthusiasm for the languages they reflect. We believe that all students can learn a language given the right tools, and that a global mindset which transcends geographic borders is a necessity and an essential asset in the 21st century world.

We believe that all interested students should be offered the opportunity to study world languages. Technology assures that communication in a shrinking globe has become increasingly critical. Bilingualism and multilingualism are valuable assets in today's economy, with assured advantages to those who attain higher levels of proficiency. In addition, research has shown that learning a foreign language stimulates cognitive development and protects against brain deterioration.

To ensure opportunity for our students' future, we offer language studies for various levels of ability and accomplishment. Our modern language program, which uses a proficiency-based, communicative approach is geared to students who may further their study of language for personal or professional enrichment. Listening, speaking, reading and writing skills are stressed, with reading and writing assuming greater importance in the advanced levels. All levels of study are infused with technology-enriched content and cross-curricular design.

We recognize the increasing mobility of our world, and we understand that creating awareness and acceptance of diverse cultures opens global doors. Therefore, the territory and culture of the target language are often discussed and studied. We value target language instruction and strive to promote ACTFL standards throughout the curriculum.

We believe that the study of both language and culture prepares students better to understand and function in our global world. Studying a language also offers students alternative ideas and experiences with which to judge the quality of their own lives.

PREFACE

The German II course is available to any student who wishes to continue the study of German and has successfully completed the first year of study in the German Language. At present, this course is only offered at the high school level.

Generally, students are expected to use vocabulary and structures presented to them on a variety of topics. The students' listening, speaking, reading and writing skills will continue to be developed. The student will also continue to compare aspects of the cultures studied to his/her/their way of life.

In addition, the students will continue to be exposed to grammar aspects of the language, such as noun-gender agreement, question words and patterns, idiomatic expressions, accusative and dative cases and past tense.

At the completion of this course, it is anticipated that students will possess the speaking, pronunciation, comprehension, and grammar skills that would enable them to progress to a novice-high learner stage.
